DETAILED ACTION

The following is a first action on the merits of application serial no. 10/784,228 filed February 22, 2004.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference character(s) not mentioned in the description: item number 10 in Figure 1. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d), or amendment to the specification to add the reference character(s) in the description in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(b) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3747

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by prior art shown in Kobayashi (5,924,400). Kobayashi discloses in Figure 5, a lubrication system, comprising a first chamber, a lubrication source (16) said first chamber, second chamber, a suction source (9) in said second chamber, a divider extending between said first chamber and said second chamber, a first pathway between said first and second chamber transporting lubrication from said first to said second chamber, a second pathway between said first and second chamber transporting lubrication from said second chamber to said first chamber.

Regarding claim 2, wherein said first pathway is located radially inwardly of said second pathway.

Regarding claim 3, wherein said first pathway is a venturi (9) opening.

Regarding claim 4, The lubrication system of claim wherein said second pathway has a chamber.

Regarding claim 5, wherein said second pathway has a chamber.

Regarding claim 6, said lubricant source supplies oil.

Regarding claim 7, lubricating source is a rotating member.

Regarding claim 8, wherein the rotating member generated centrifugal force.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Takahashi et al. (5,769,036 discloses the claimed invention except it does not explicitly teach the lubricant source being in the cam chest. It teaches an oil reservoir located under the crankcase with a mechanical driven oil pump to circulate lubricant between oil reservoir and the engine. Takahashi et al. does not show the cam chest. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the invention of Takahashi et al by replacing the source of lubricant from an oil reservoir under the crankcase to a source under the cam chest to make the engine compact.

Regarding claims 15 and 16, a flywheel housing serving as a transport medium for the lubricant inherently generating a centrifugal force. See Figures.
